

A Day in the Life of Mozart

What was Mozart's routine ?
Here is how Mozart spent a typical day.

His name was Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. He was born in 1756 and he died in 1791. He was an Austrian composer who lived in Vienna.

 6:15 a.m.	He woke up, got up, washed, brushed his hair and got dressed.
 7:00 a.m.	It was time for Mozart to have a long and large breakfast. He usually had fruit, bread with butter and jam and a glass of milk.
 7:30 a.m.	After that he sat down and composed symphonies or worked on his concertos and operas (Mozart created six hundred works).
 9:00 a.m.	He gave lessons to some children and adults in their houses or castles. Rich men gave Mozart 4 ducats (325 euros) for twelve lessons.
 1:30 p.m.	He had lunch at his house. He often ate half a capon (a sort of chicken) because it was his favourite meal. He loved potatoes and tomatoes too.

3:00 p.m.

After his meal, he generally went to visit friends and had long conversations with them.

4:30 p.m.

Back home and no time for a quick snack. He preferred composing again because it was very quiet in his house - there was nobody.

7:00 p.m.

Mozart was not always hungry before going to a concert so he didn't eat a lot. He just loved to drink almond milk or lemonade and eat sweets to fill his belly. Then he got prepared for his concert.

8:00 p.m.

He gave a concert in a church or a castle. He sometimes played music in front of a Prince, a Princess, or even a King and a Queen !

11:00 p.m.

At eleven o'clock he went back home. He read a book near a fireplace or sometimes wrote more letters to his family, specially his sister.

1:00 a.m.

It was time for Mozart to go to bed and sleep. Good night !
